

CHAPTER XI.

WHO STOLE THE TARTS?

Alice had never been in a court of justice before, but she had read about them in books, and she was quite pleased to find that she knew the name of nearly everything there.

... The twelve jurors were all writing very busily on slates. 'What are they doing?' Alice whispered ... 'They can't have anything to put down yet, before the trial's begun.'

Well, they can, and it is a strange collection of numbers for you to find the differences.
